DOYLE CUP CHAMPIONS

The Doyle Cup was donated in 1985 by Pete Doyle, a Penticton businessman and his family, for competition of Junior 'A' Hockey Clubs between Alberta and British Columbia. The best-of-seven series featured the Champion of the AJHL versus the Champion of the BCHL.

Until 2013, the winner of the Doyle Cup represented the Pacific Region at the RBC Cup National Championship. In 2013, the Western Canada Cup was created to crown a Regional Champion and advance two teams to the RBC Cup from amongst the AJHL, BCHL, MJHL and SJHL. The WCC tournament ran from 2013-2017 before returning to the Doyle Cup format in 2018.

1962-1984

Before the Doyle Cup was first presented in 1985, teams from the BCJHL, AJHL, and the Pacific Coast Junior Hockey League (PCJHL) competed in an inter-provincial championship series.

WESTERN CANADA CUP

In January 2012, the Canadian Junior Hockey League announced a new regional playoff format for its four western provinces. The champions of the British Columbia Hockey League, Alberta Junior Hockey League, Saskatchewan Junior Hockey League, and Manitoba Junior Hockey League now participate annually in a five-team tournament with the host team. The 13-game tournament includes a round-robin schedule followed by two semifinal games and a championship game. The Western Canada Cup Champion and the Runner-Up both represent Western Canada at the RBC Cup National Junior A Championship.

The Western Canada Cup will not continue past 2017 following a five-year trial of the format. The AJHL Champion and BCHL Champion will once again compete in a best-of-seven series for the right to advance to the RBC Cup starting in 2018.
